New 1909 Embroideries

Our new Embroideries now on sale were obtained for nearly a year ago, and come direct to us from the best foreign makers, buying direct enables us to offer our patrons the very best values possible. There are many new and odd designs, and the prices we are asking really seem to be little for the character of goods. But we are trying to give our patrons merchandise of quality at the most moderate prices possible. The new embroideries range in price from 5c to 50c yard.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES.

With all the pomp, splendor of a ritual that has been in use in similar services for centuries, Very Rev. Owen B. Corrigan, the pastor of St. Gregory's Church, Baltimore was elevated to the Catholic episcopacy at the Cathedral in that city yesterday morning being consecrated titular bishop of Maara. The consecrator was Cardinal Gibbons and his assistants were Bishop Maurice A. Burke, of St. Joseph, Mo.; Bishop Benjamin J. Kelley, of Savannah, Ga., and Bishop A. Van de Vyver of Richmond, Va. Bishop Corrigan will serve as the auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese of Baltimore. His episcopal residence will be at St. Gregory's rectory. The cathedral was crowded and the admission was by card only. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. William A. Russell, formerly pastor of the cathedral and now Irremovable rector of St. Patrick's Church, Washington.

Bishop Corrigan's consecration took place during the intervals of the grand high mass, which was celebrated by Cardinal Gibbons, and which began promptly at 10:30 o'clock, following the procession, which formed at the cardinal's residence at 10:15 o'clock. The procession of archbishops, bishops, Rector and other dignitaries of the church, with Cardinal Gibbons in the position of honor at the end of the line, was a particularly imposing one. This imposing pageant was headed by a crucifer and a censerbearer and a long file of seminarians, in their simple robes. Touches of color were given by the gowns of the altar boys of the cathedral in their red robes. The rather somber appearance of the secular clergy was offset by the long line of bishops, who immediately followed several Franciscan and Dominican monks from Washington. Archbishop Farley, of New York, was the next in line, with his official family, and the rear was brought up by Cardinal Gibbons, who gave, in his red, robes, the finishing touch of color.

THE PETTY SIGNAL AND INDICATOR.

The Rochester, N. Y., Evening Times of Wednesday says:

"By tomorrow night the Petty Signal & Indicator Company will have completed the signal which is being placed at the corner of State and Platt streets by the Rochester Railway Company for the purpose of warning the motormen of the trolley cars when there is a fire alarm sent in, and when they are to avoid colliding with fire apparatus. The signal now being erected is merely to be used as a test, but if it proves to be satisfactory the railway company will no doubt place them at all the dangerous street corners.

Alexander V. Petty, the inventor of the signal, is directing the work of erection, which was started yesterday morning. The signal consists of a long pole upon which is a large bell, which when connected with the fire houses, starts to ring when the first alarm bell is rung in the firehouse. The bell is so fixed that it can be kept ringing until the fire companies have crossed the street. In addition to the gong, there is a large windmill style red signal which whirls around all the time the bell is ringing. This will be used only in the day, at night there being a large red light which lights when the gong starts to ring. The signals have been placed in several cities and it is said that they have been found very satisfactory.

Fire Chief Charles Little and several city officials will be invited within a few days to inspect the signal. Chief Little says that he had inspected and seen demonstrations of the signal at Boston and Columbus, where the last two conventions of the Fire Chiefs Association were held. The chief believes that they would be a great factor of safety both to the firemen and general public if they were placed on as many street corners as possible.

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK.

Crazed by drink, Walter Rumble, a negro, terrorized the entire suburban section of Portsmouth yesterday and one and perhaps two lives were sacrificed to his insane lust for blood. Small colored boys gazed the drunken negro as he was on his way home and they were chased by him into the home of Jesse Lester.

The children took refuge in the kitchen and Rumble followed them. As they hid behind the stove and cupboards he emptied his revolver at them. Stopping to reload it, the children escaped and ran to where Lester was working.

He at once set out to drive the invader from his home and met Rumble on the way. Without a word of warning the whisky-crazed negro opened fire on Lester. The man fell at the first shot, but, to make sure of him, Rumble fired again into the prostrate man. Then he continued homeward and found his wife scrubbing the floor. Without a word he shot her repeatedly. The entire section was by this time in a state of terror and when the negro tried to enter a store near his home it was barricaded. He fired into it and went on, killing dogs, and other animals that crossed his path. Colored men, who had armed themselves, and members of the county constabulary gave chase. The man hid in a pig pen. When almost surrounded he broke cover and ran. He barricaded himself in a nearby building and exchanged shots with the officers. They finally succeeded in hitting him in the shoulder, when he surrendered. On the way to jail he tried to get at his captors with an immense clasp-knife and a fierce fight for the possession of the weapon ensued. At the jail he again became violent, and tried to make

ROASTED IN A BATH.

A jury in the Supreme Court presided over by Justice Morschauer, at White Plains, N. Y., will today decide the suit for $10,000 damages brought by

G. H. Haulenbeck against Dr. G. L.

Currie and J. H. Storer, of Manhattan, for being "roasted" in an electric bath which he took to cure him of alcoholism.

Mr. Haulenbeck alleges that on April 6, 1901, he was suffering from bronchial trouble and other maladies brought on by the use of acoholic liquors, and he went to see Dr. Currie, who took him into a medical bath in charge of the defendant, Storer. The bath was lined with glass and filled with a large number of electric lights. He says he was laid on a slab, under which were more electric lights, and a great amount of heat was furnished to sweat the alcohol out of his system. The plaintiff alleges that he was kept in the bath five hours, and became unconscious, and when he came to found that his spine and both his heels and the calves of his legs had been badly burned. He says the burned fish had been cut away and he suffered greatly from all his injuries.

The U. S. Government in its "Pure

Food Law" does not "indorse" or "guarantee" any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels. If they are ingredients of the preparations. Ely's Cream Balm, the well known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies fully with all the requirements of the law.
